Tasha Schmaltz, Decisive Farming's Chief Product Officer sets the stage for the Quantified Farm's "Next Generation" theme with a presentation on the unique path taken to become a farmer.

09:00 – 10:00 Panel Session – Innovation, Revolution, & Evolution: The Next Generation of Precision Farming & Agronomy

Agronomy and precision farming have evolved rapidly over the past two decades. GIS, cloud data and mobile technologies have also exploded in use and accessibility. For those who farmed through this evolution, this was an era of either taking a chance on new tech, or taking a wait and see approach before adopting. For the growers who are looking at handing off the farm operation to the next generation, those 'digital natives' accept and incorporate new technologies in all aspects of their lives. How could the next generation make the most of the innovations to come and avoid the pitfalls that are inherent? Our experts have the answer to this and more!

"The Challenge of Change: Finding Opportunity in Adversity"

We've all heard it a million times; "change is constant", "the only certainty in life is change", "change or perish". We all know it; what we need is for someone to show us how to deal with it. Warren explains how the challenges brought on by change hold endless opportunities for innovation and personal and professional growth, and that it's the challenges we face that build the resilience we need as we're asked to do more, with less. Warren is living proof that it is possible to not just survive, but to thrive despite adversity.
